Recognized by ideal-LIVING for “Best Outdoor Living”

BRMC has been recognized by ideal-LIVING magazine as a community with the “Best Outdoor Living” in their Best of the Best special issue. Poised just off the Blue Ridge Parkway on 6,000+ acres—between the charming mountain town of Blowing Rock and the bustling college town of Boone, home to Appalachian State University—BRMC presents homeowners with 50-mile views in every direction, and a wealth of outdoor activities and attractions. This is indeed outdoor living at its finest. Picture hiking on pristine, tree-lined trails. Fishing in pure mountain streams. Riding UTV’s over rolling hills. Swimming in tucked-away mountain pools. And camping in old-growth forests. BRMC is a community to celebrate the great outdoors with friends and family all year long.
